

Name: Dr. Vandana Dua
Designation: Associate Professor
Department: Education
Faculty of: Faculty of Education

About: I am Dr. Vandana Dua, an Associate Professor in the Department of Education at the Faculty of Education. With 9 years of experience in both teaching and research, my work is focused on understanding the psychological and social factors that impact student success, especially in relation to stress and value preferences.

I earned my Ph.D. in Education from MDSU, Bikaner, in 2014. I also hold an MA in Hindi from Punjab University, Patiala, completed in 2004, and a BA from the same university in 2002.

My research has primarily explored the relationship between stress levels, value preferences, and academic achievement, particularly at the senior secondary school level. To date, I have published 15 research papers on these topics.

Experience: 09

Qualification:

- ✓ Ph.D in Education MDSU, Bikaner in 2014
- ✓ MA in Hindi Punjab University, Patiala in 2004
- ✓ BA from Punjab University, Patiala in 2002

No. of Research Publications: 15

Research Work: A Study of Stress and Value Preference of Students in Relation to different levels of Achievement at Senior Secondary School Level

Areas of Interests:

- Stress Levels and Academic Achievement
- Value Preferences and Its Influence on Academic Success
- Psychological Factors in Stress Management
- Socio-Demographic Variables and Stress-Achievement Relationship